

Hannah G. Solomon Award: Criteria for Section Given Awards

The Hannah G. Solomon Award is presented by NCJW to an individual who has changed the lives of others through his or her leadership efforts and service.

Sections can present this award during appropriate occasions. The award should be given to an individual in your community or to a Section member who has helped to change and expand the role of others in vital areas of community life, and whose leadership in areas of NCJW concern — improving the quality of life for women, children, and families — has motivated others to fight for change, and has resulted in progress and enlightenment in the community.

The award is a bronze sculpture, “Head of Young Girl” by Helaine D. Blum, from a contemporary private collection and be ordered from the NCJW Warehouse Store Catalogue.
